QUESTION OF

The Term Will Likely go by Default, Because of Bad Health of Judge Hancock.

COUNTY TURNPIKE

The Supervisors to Make a Personal Inspection Before Release the Electric Railroad.

(Special to the Times-Distatch.)
CHESTERFIELD, VA., Nov. 24.—The Circuit Court was not reopened this morning, owing to the ill health of Judge B. A. Hancock, who is in Farmville staying with his half-brother, Dr. Winston, and it is thought that the term will be allowed to lapse and that those cases which had been set for this term will go over till a specal term to be called by the judge. This is the third day since court was last adjourned, and, according to Judge Hancock's construction of the court was last adjourned, and, according to Judge Hancock's construction of the law the term will expire by limitation tomorrow, as only two days' session have been held since the beginning of the term on November 18th. In the opinion of some the court may adjourn for twenty days after the sixth day from its opening has passed, but the practice heretofore has been in this court not to adjourn for more than three days at a time until the court has actually been in session six days.

The jurors and witnesses were here today to so into the case against F. R. Hancock, a suit brought by T. V. Moore, but they were allowed to return to their reappearance. It was expected here that Judge Clopton would hold court for the remainder of the term and hear the cases set on the first day, but an appointment from the Governor to hold court elsewhere will prevent his doing so.

TURPIKE QUESTION.

The six members of the Board of Supervisors will make a personal inspection of the Manchester and Petersburg Turnpike December 11th, to determine whether the Richmond and Petersburg Electric Railway Company shall be required to make any further improvements to the turnpike under the conditions of their franchise, which provides that the company shall restore the roadbed of the pike in those places where they disturbed the same to as good condition as when they found the same in undertaking the construction of their road.

The question has been before the board for some time, and came up by appointment yesterday that the citizens living along the turnpike might be heard on Mr. ment yesterday that the citizens living along the turnpike might be heard on Mr. Wells' motion for a release of the rail-way company from any further obl'gation in the matter. Many citizens, prominently among them Mr. J. W. Snellings, have requested the supervisors not to release the railway company, claiming that the roadbed, while excellent for travel in the summer months, is well night impassable after the winter season fairly begins, and that the company for a well beaten, and, in many places, gravelled roadbed, has substituted only a well-rounded clay bed, which will soon clop public business along the turnpike at both ends.

The board expects to render a decision one way or another at its next meeting, which will be held on the third Monday in December, instead of the fourth, as usual.

TO GRAVEL ROADS.

The supervisors on yesterday authorized a considerable expenditure for gravelling parts of the road from Centralia to the courthouse, which has recently been improved under the new system of working roads brought about by the good roads association of this county.

DESPERATE PRISONER.

Adam Hunt Sentenced to Hang in Person County.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) VIRGILINA, VA., Nov. 24.-William Cosby shot a white man near Houston, Va., November 4th. The owner of a cer-tain tract of land caught Cosby hunting on his premises and ordered him off. The reply was a load of shot, which inflicted a serious wound in the owner's foot. William took French leave, but as this was not his first offense. Sheriff T. R. Jordan, of Hallfax, made a special effort to catch his man. He succeeded in locating him in Oxford, N. C., and in locating him in Oxtora, N. C., and wired the chief of police there to arrest and hold him, which was done. James Wrenn, the Oxford chief of police, upon receipt of the necessary requisition papers, agneed to deliver his prisoner to sheriff Jordan at this place at 1 o'clock Sunday, and his carriage had just crossed the North Carolina line when the negro, though handcuffed, jumped from the carriage and made a break for liberty. The officers tried to stop him, and fired some shots to scare him, but he did not mind that, until finally the officers succeeded in sending a 44-caliber bullet through the fleshy part of his leg. Dr. P. P. Causey declared the wound was painful, but not serious. After Sheriff Jordan had the wound dressed he handcuffed his prisoner to the buggy and left for Houston, where Hallfax court is in session.

The pink coats were first visible three miles away, a long, thin line of riders strenuously urging their mounts up the stoep hillsides on Barry's Farm. They were soon lost to sight, and on appearing again the baying of the pack could be distinctly heard crossing the fields at an acute angle.

They made straight for the stable yards of Louis D. Passano. Ditches, stone walls and hedges were cleared with wonderful alacrity. At this point Mr. Frank Barker's mount tripped a plank fence, both going to the ground heavily, but sustaining no injury. Through the stable lot a series of ins and outs were on countered, the finish being quickly made in an adjoining field.

The Southern yard engine, with five coal cars atlached, was standing on the edge of a high treatie near the Southern pump house. As the last car of coal was being unloaded, south bound train No. 71, from Alexandria to Monroe, hove in sight around a curve. Freight Engineer Gerlacher caught a glimpse of the yard engine, reversed his brakes and then jumped. The freight struck the yard engine with terrific force, knocking one of the coal cars from the top of the treatle to a creek, some thirty yards distant. The two cars next to the freight engine were reduced to splinters. One of these cars was loaded with heavy street car rails, which were thrown down the ambankment. The unloaded coal car next to the yard engine was also thrown down the embankment, the trucks being left on the track.

to the yard engine was also thrown down the embankment, the trucks being left on the track.

S. P. Pugh, fireman on the freight, stuck to his engine, thinking that his frain would come to a standstill. He was less hurt than either of the two men who jumped from the engine-Engineer W. H. Gerlacher, of Covesville, and Brakeman C. C. Smith, of Alexandria, Both of these had their ankles sprained, Lesides receiving some bruises.

It is said that when the crosh came Engineer Harvey Mortimer, of the yard engine, who had been standing alongside the track, was on a run to flag the freight. He saw that be could not get in his engine in time to avert the collision, and was relying mosn his fireman, John Fales, of Charlottesville, to get the yard engine started. This Falles endeavored to do, but the brakes would not work. He was in the engine when the collision occurred. The yard engine is badly wrecked.

The wreck was due to the failure of the yard crew to have a flag out while standing on the main line, outside the yard limits. The south bound freight was two or three hours late.

"THE OLD SCRATCH."

How the Evil One Came to Be Popularly Known as "The Old Scratch."
One of the many familiar names of his Satanic majesty is "The Old Scratch."
It is undoubtedly due to the fact that scratching is so disagreeable that people thought it no worse than the evil one. A scalp full of dandruff keeps one scratching all the time; not only disagreeable but considered very inelegant in polite society—as it should be—because one ought to keep the scalp so clean that it would not lich. To cure the scalp of dandruff effectively, use Newbro's Herpicide. It killis the germ that creates the dandruff, which is preliminary to falling hair, and finally baldness. Messrs. W. C. and Paul M. Pitts have sold their farm, on Nandua Creek, containing 300 acres, to Mr. William Ben-taining 300 acres, to Mr. William Benson, for $10,800. Land during the week, in the central portion of the county, sold at $02 per acre for farming purposes. The smallpox at and near Horntown is improving. No new cases for two weeks or more. There are several cases at this time on Assateague Island. The inlet cut through the beach two miles below Ocean City, by the great October storm, is still open, and hopes are entertained that it will widen and become deeper. Should this occur, the whole of Synepuxent Bay, from Chincoteague Island to Ocean City, will be come valuable oyster rocks and be of incalculable benefit to the people of that section.
